New facility in Wormerveer as of January 2014

Rhebergen Composites signed for a new location with more options. The new facility is a large, modern, free-standing production hall including an office, built out of high-quality materials. The hall offers space for all necessary production procedures, has two overhead cranes and a separate grinding bay that can also be used for painting. The facility features big overhead doors to easily move big projects and connects at 500 meters distance to the waterway system.

The new facility offers the right high-graded options to match the industry we work in and our focus: turnkey delivery from development, design and engineering to construction, painting, transport and mounting. In December this year the move will start in phases in order to be operating at the new address per January 2014. The official opening of Rhebergen Composites in Wormerveer follows in March.

Host of Yacht Valley Tour March

In March 2014 HISWA Holland Yachting Group will organise its approximately fifteenth Yacht Valley Tour for Project & Purchasing Managers of yards around the world. Rhebergen Composites will host the opening evening and welcome the international guests and members of the group. This event is an excellent chance to show the new facility in Wormerveer.

Celestial teapot delivered

For the municipality of Utrecht, the Netherlands, Rhebergen Composites produced a giant teapot as part of the art exhibition Call of the Mall. In June the teapot was placed on top of the shopping mall Hoog Catharijne in het middle of the city, where it will be situated for at least the next 2,5 years. Transport and mounting of the teapot gained a lot of interest by the press. Link to video \(in Dutch\) For Rhebergen Composites the teapot was a special project.

Upcoming shows

25-27 September our Sales & Technical Director Thomas Thon will be at the Monaco Yacht Show and available for meetings.

At METS in November we will have a booth in the SuperYacht Pavilion again: visit us at 10.205. It will be a pleasure to see you!
