

Albin Pump Marine – new marine trademark from Sweden

Albin Pump, well known manufacturer of industrial pumps, now enters the marine pump market. The new division, Albin Pump Marine, will produce pumps and pump solutions for the global marine pleasure boat markets.

The marine pleasure boat pump market today is often characterized by high price brands and budget imports. Albin Pump Marine aims to bridge the gap in this market. Working with advanced digital design, together with specialized manufacturing partners, Albin Pump Marine will bring pump solutions to the market at a faster pace than ever before, whilst meeting the on-line demands of the well informed consumer.

“Many boat builders look for direct deliveries of complete pump packages while marinas and shops want a range of problem-free products that sell off-the shelf. Consumers rely on strong brands and search already for the information they need on-line” says Andreas Dahl, CEO Albin Pump Marine

“We will strive to provide the best value to our customers by investing our knowledge and experience in our pump portfolio and by making them available to the global pleasure boat market in the most cost efficient and modern way”, says Andreas

The Albin Pump Marine complete product portfolio includes bilge pumps, waste water pumps, water pressure pumps, impeller pumps, replacement impellers and more as well as an extensive range of pump solutions such as marine toilets, water heaters, ventilation blowers and defrosters, for improved comfort and safety onboard.
