Integrated security control within reach

Efficient safety & security integration for small and medium sized businesses

- Open and future proof
- Full integration with AXIS access control and AXIS camera observation
- Tablet integration

Today's buildings are equipped with a variety of systems, such as fire prevention, CCTV or access control. But it takes a lot of time to handle every system separately while visibility, reporting and early detection of problems are a few of the absolute security musts.

Discover Sky-Walker3 SA, a fully integrated security solution especially intended for small and medium businesses.

Sky-Walker3 SA

An integrated security management system is vital for modern, large companies that require the central control and monitoring of the various security systems employed in their buildings. But smaller and medium sized environments also need to manage their daily security processes. For them, a centralised and integrated security management platform is now possible.

Entelec is proud to introduce Sky-Walker3 SA, a fully integrated security solution especially intended for small and medium businesses. The possibilities typical for large scale integration platforms are now within your reach.

Complete security control

The user interface of Sky-Walker3 SA provides full control, monitoring and administration of all security systems from a centralized high definition display. The graphical and intuitive setup makes the system easy to operate for receptionists or security guards without the need for having any technical skills or extensive training.

All these control functions are combined in one Graphical User Interface. Just one screen (tablet, smartphone or workstation) provides operational control of all relevant security functions.

Foolproof and easy to use

Simplicity of usage was an important development objective for Sky-Walker3 SA. Therefore the system uses geographical map views to show the operator the exact location of all security objects, such as cameras or doors. Control these objects directly by selecting them in the map views.

Efficient overviews

The Sky-Walker3 software contains an alarm monitoring buffer displaying all incoming alarms and messages from the connected security systems at a glance. These alarms and messages can automatically interact with live camera views.

For example: if a forced door alarm is accepted by the operator, automatic live views of the nearest cameras are switched on. Or, if an intercom call is accepted the live camera view of the visitor is automatically shown.

Open and future proof

In addition to managing your security processes, you are also able to create reports on security at facility level. These forms of measurement are the key to your cost savings!

Would you like a detailed overview on the occupancy of your building environment? Or an analysis of false alarms generated in the past? With Sky-Walker3, they are only a few clicks away.

Remote monitoring & control

Commonly used security functions are available on devices such as tablets or smart phones. If an operator has to leave their desk temporarily, supervision of security events is still possible.

No manned system over the weekend? Sky-Walker3 SA still monitors your security alarms, system messages and technical failures. Critical alarms can be forwarded towards preconfigured e-mail addresses to assure fast response and follow-up.

Security integrations

So how does the platform work exactly?

By bringing your technologies under the Entelec umbrella and by providing a central monitoring location for all of these systems through the Sky-Walker Integration Platform, you benefit from a set of capabilities which guarantee top-level intelligence at all times:

- Collect data coming from any type and number of security devices
- Analyse and identify alarms & events and their priority
- Verify the situation with the relevant information provided by the platform
- Resolve with the help of step-by-step workflows, tailored for that specific situation
- Reports and statistics allow logging, tracking and in-depth analysis
- Control remotely over a secure network

Optimize your effectivity, improve your efficiency, and boost your return on investment!

Access control

The daily management of your access control systems just got a lot easier! Open doors and gates remotely, manage users, activate new badges, appoint user rights and much more in no time. Sky-Walker3 SA also monitors possible security issues such as 'forced door' and 'door open' alarms.

The Sky-Walker3 plugin for access control was developed in close co-operation with AXIS Communications, one of the world leaders in IP Camera systems and IP controllers.

With the integration of the recently introduced AXIS A1001 door controller, Sky-Walker3 SA is able to manage 32 doors with a maximum of 64 card readers. The door controller supports multiple access card technologies and is fully equipped to control a wide variety of electromechanical locks & crossing gates.

Camera Observation

Traditionally, Entelec has always supported the integration of all AXIS camera products such as IP fixed and dome cameras, encoders and decoders. Sky-Walker3 SA supports the system integration of up to 128 AXIS camera devices.

Intrusion & Intercom

For intrusion and IP intercom system integration, Sky-Walker3 SA acts as an open platform and software interface for any A-brand system and is available to complete a fully integrated security solution.

AXIS COMMUNICATIONS
APPLICATION DEVELOPMENT PARTNER

Entelec Control Systems, founded in 1992, is a software company specialized in the development and implementation of system integration solutions for the efficient management of all the technical, safety and security systems within buildings. We use our experience to assess & prioritise customer's requirements and identify their problems and shortcomings to build them a solution that meets their needs and wants perfectly.

With offices in Belgium (HQ), The Netherlands, France and United Kingdom, we are strategically positioned to provide our customers and partners with efficient service and support.

www.entelec.eu info@entelec.eu

Your local distributor

ENTELEC control systems

Sky-Walker™ Integration Platform